Dear Stan:-

Yours of 23 February arrived today, and we were most pleased to get it.

OK, everything is tracking smoothly for your 12 April visit with us. Sorry Pat can't be along too, but fully understand those problems. Here's a few small points:

-- About one week prior to the event, we will get a list to you with names and short identifications on those who will be on hand for the private pre-lecture dinner.

STAT -- If [] can make the trip with you (which we hope he can), it would be nice if you could leave him behind as your delegate to our Board of Advisors meetings until Sunday, 16 April. OK

Heck? -- Sue Wiley of Channel 18 (our local NBC-TV affiliate) called me today inquiring whether she could have up to an hour of your time for a local 30-minute version of "Meet the Press." I told her it would be impossible unless she could persuade you to arrive an hour earlier than currently planned. It occurred to me this might possibly be of interest to you, because this show gets full statewide coverage. Sue may be "local" but she is one of the best television moderator-interviewers I have seen anywhere. She lets the interviewees do most of the talking, injecting only enough questions to help them to say what they seem to want to say in any case, but at the same time developing perceptive new insights. She gets almost all of the "heavyweights" who come to town...Jimmy Carter, among many others. She is certainly not like the graduates of the Woodward & Bernstein School of Journalism whom you've encountered around Washington. But--play it as you see fit.

We are very pleased indeed that you are able to accept two of our four nominees for student summer internships at your place. Knowing that this is a rigorously competitive nationwide selection process, we think that batting .500 is not too bad for a little hillbilly school down in Kaintuck. If you could accept only two of ours, you picked the right two in Kazee and Marttila.

STAT

I was also pleased indeed when [] told me on the phone a few days ago that you were interested in renewing our own summer deal of '77 under appropriate circumstances. I will get with John to try to iron out all the details.

STAT

Finally, thanks a million for all of your assistance and support in sending Scott Breckinridge and [] to us for WORLDVIEW '78 in mid-March. Could you perchance let me have a copy of the text of the distinguished service award that you conferred on Scott at the end of last June?--it might be nice to read that when we introduce him here, if you concur. ✓

Enclosed are a few copies of our latest newsletter, hot off the press. We'll send you sample poster copies in a few days--they are not back from the printer yet.

Warmest personal regards,

Vincent Davis

Spring 1978

Patterson School Professor

Plan now to attend Our Spring '78 BOA Meetings

The BOA Spring '78 meetings are set for April 13 - 16, again at super-beautiful Lake Cumberland Resort, as announced in our Summer-Fall '77 newsletter distributed last August. We're enclosing reservation forms for all BOA members, and for special guests we've contacted. Please return these forms to us immediately.

Any alumni and other friends who would like to inquire about participating in these April meetings are invited to contact us at once.

All of those participating in the spring '78 BOA meetings should arrive in Lexington not later than 8 p.m. Thursday, April 13, for the ride down to the resort—except those who plan to go by private transportation. We will try to hold back sufficient wagons to accommodate those on incoming flights arriving in Lexington about 10 p.m., but we will need to have planning information as soon as possible from anticipated “stragglers.”

The first event, an informal buffet at the Vince Davis home, will start late Thursday afternoon, April 13, and continue until departure for Lake Cumberland. The primary meetings at the resort Friday-Saturday will follow our customary format, utilizing BOA members and special VIP guests for panel presentations followed by general discussion from the floor. All sessions will be in plenary, as usual.

Ample opportunities for leisure and social events will be scheduled including, golf, tennis, hiking, improvised ball games, and boat rides on the lake, weather permitting. In case we fail to get our typically beautiful spring weather, you may want to pack a sweater or windbreaker plus a light raincoat. Attire will be extremely informal at all times.

Private reserve stocks can accommodate most tastes at the social hours, but those with special exotic preferences in “potables” should pack on a BYOL basis, especially in view of the fact that the nearest “wet” county is about 100 miles away.

Note: We will return to Lexington about noon on Sunday, April 16. It will be very difficult for us to assist people in catching flights departing from Lexington prior to that time, but let us know immediately if this is a problem. Remember: Lexington is on Eastern Time while Lake Cumberland Resort is on Central Time.

Special options: Anyone desiring to arrive early, in order to join us in events scheduled on Wednesday, April 12, with our longtime BOA member Admiral Stansfield Turner (see the accompanying item on Turner) and/or to go to the races at Keeneland on Thursday afternoon, April 13, should contact us immediately.

R.S.V.P.: In any case, please communicate with us at once on your plans if you are a BOA member or special invited guest—regardless as to whether your reply is yes, no, or maybe. We need this information now for planning purposes. Thanks!

Comptons and other Fellowships

We are very pleased that the Compton Foundation of New York City has renewed for 1978 - 79 a grant of an additional $10,000 for two Compton Fellowships for talented students from minority group backgrounds, thanks in substantial measure to the good offices of our BOA charter member Kenneth W. Thompson.

Otherwise, we have received an underwhelming response to the pleas in our earlier Summer-Fall '77 newsletter for assistance in raising new funds for our fellowship account. Although our Patterson School staff is badly overworked, let us assure one and all that we can somehow find time to receive, process and gratefully acknowledge all contributions to our fellowship fund.

Ambassador Bolen-- First Cooper Lecturer for 1978

David B. Bolen, who succeeded Kentucky's own and esteemed John Sherman Cooper as the second U. S. Ambassador to East Germany (or, more officially the German Democratic Republic) in the late summer of 1977, was our first John Sherman Cooper Distinguished Lecturer for 1978. With great and greatly appreciated support from the U. S. Department of State, including valuable assistance from Mr. Victor Gray in his position as the GDR Desk Officer, Ambassador Bolen flew directly from Berlin to Lexington on February 14, remaining on campus until February 17.

Ambassador Bolen's Cooper Lecture on Thursday evening, February 16, was formally titled, "East Germany in a Rapidly Changing World," or—as one of our students put it somewhat less formally—"Survival on the Front Lines of an Old Cold War." Earlier that day he gave a short luncheon talk to approximately 350 members of the Greater Lexington Rotary Club on the subject of commercial and trade relationships between the United States and East Germany.

In addition, he led an informal seminar with UK faculty and students, talked in particular to several varsity athletes, met with the press, was guest of honor at a small reception, and was the guest of Lexington Mayor James Amato at the basketball game between the universities of Kentucky and Tennessee on February 15.

Ambassador Bolen, a native of Louisiana, served in the U. S. Army Air Corps during World War II, and afterwards attended the University of Colorado where he earned the B.S. and M.S. degrees. During his years at Colorado he achieved international fame as a great track star, including membership on the '48 U. S. Olympic Track Team and four AAU All-Star Track Teams. The University of Colorado created in his honor the "Dave Bolen Olympic Award" in 1949, subsequently conferred upon any University of Colorado student or alumnus participating on an Olympic team.

Additionally, the University of Colorado in 1976 named him one of 12 "Alumni of the Century" (out of a total of several thousand alumni) in connection with the Colorado State Centennial. That elite group of 12 also included notables such as Associate Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, U. S. Supreme Court, who graduated from Colorado in 1938. A Rhodes Scholar, Justice White, after winning the Heisman Trophy, went on to an all-star pro football career and later distinguished himself as a public servant.

Ambassador Bolen, who earned the M.P.A. degree from Harvard in addition to his Colorado degrees, began his career in the U. S. Foreign Service in 1950, and has held a variety of important assignments often emphasizing economic and commercial matters with respect to countries in Europe and Africa. He was Assistant Secretary of State for Africa prior to assuming his current duties as U. S. Ambassador to the German Democratic Republic, and has previously served as ambassador to three other countries.

The Patterson School inaugurated the John Sherman Cooper Distinguished Lectures series in 1977 with visits to the campus by former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and former President Gerald R. Ford.

BOA Meetings for the 1978-79 Academic Year

In accordance with decisions reached at BOA meetings during the 1977 - 78 academic year, we will shift to a regularized new format in 1978 - 79. The annual Fall Semester meeting will be our standard full-scale production at Lake Cumberland Resort, designed in part to welcome our new incoming class of students.

The schedule will call for arrival in Lexington on Thursday afternoon or evening, then Friday and Saturday at the lake, and departure on Sunday. The annual Spring Semester meeting will be on a reduced scale here in Lexington, starting at noon on a Friday to allow Friday morning arrivals, and ending at noon on Saturday. The Keeneland races will be offered as an option.

Mark these dates on your calendar now for these BOA meetings for the 1978 - 79 academic year:

Fall '78: Thursday, September 28 - Sunday, October 1

Spring '79: Friday-Saturday, April 6 - 7, 1979, in Lexington

Admiral Turner--

Second Cooper Lecturer

Admiral Stansfield Turner, U. S. Navy, who since early 1977 has been serving as President Carter's Director of Central Intelligence and also as Director of the C.I.A., is scheduled to arrive on Wednesday morning, April 12, for a full day of events arranged by the Patterson School.

The day will include a luncheon talk to the Lexington Lions Club, a press conference, a private seminar meeting with Patterson School students, a private dinner meeting with BOA members and other specially invited friends, and then his public address as one of our two John Sherman Cooper Distinguished Lecturers for 1978. The lecture will be held at 7:15 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the Student Center.

Admiral Turner, a BOA charter member, made two separate trips to Lexington for Patterson School events several years ago, but has been unable to join us again in more recent years because of burdensome duties primarily outside of the United States. Unfortunately, his heavy schedule of commitments will not allow him to remain for the BOA meetings April 13 - 16. However, any BOA member or BOA special guest is welcome to arrive in Lexington one day early (April 12) in order to attend the small private dinner with Admiral Turner and to hear his lecture that evening. Please contact us immediately to work out the necessary arrangements.

Admiral Turner graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1946, standing number 25 in his class of about 800. At Annapolis, he served as Midshipman Commander of the Brigade of Midshipmen. Two earlier years of his collegiate career were spent at Amherst College. A native of Highland Park, Ill., he was a Rhodes Scholar in the Master's Degree Program in philosophy, politics and economics at Oxford University following his graduation from the Naval Academy. Later, he graduated from the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard Business School, and during these middle years of his career he also served in a number of distinguished command billets at sea.

After promotion to rear admiral, he served during 1971 - 72 as Director of the Navy's Office of Systems Analysis. Then, as a vice admiral, he was named the 36th President of the Naval War College, serving in this position from 1972 - 74.

Finally, with the new fourth star of a full admiral, he served during 1975 - 77 as Commander-in-Chief of NATO Forces Southern Europe with headquarters in Naples, Italy, immediately prior to assuming his current position for President Carter in early March of 1977.

Further details on Admiral Turner can be found in cover stories in both Time and Newsweek magazines for the week of February 6, and in almost any daily newspaper.

Accomplishments of Patterson Students and Alumni

The following students completed all of our degree requirements for graduation in December 1977: Nicole Barjonnet, Rebecca Bennett, Kathy Boyd, Susan Burkhardt, Carol Goodloe, Kurt Kreznar, Larry Perkins, Bruce Reynolds, Albie Stein, and Karen Williams.

Most of these recent graduates, hampered somewhat by severe winter weather, are still engaged in the job search process, in many cases pursuing strong leads with interviews and other forms of contact in Washington, New York and elsewhere.

Two, however, have already succeeded in nailing down attractive positions: Kathy Boyd, who has been sent on a trip to the Philippines by her new employers at the U. S. Agency for International Development (AID) in Washington; and Karen Williams, who is beginning her career in international banking with the Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh. (Another recent alumna of two years ago, Susan Weiner, is with the international department of Pittsburgh National Bank.)

The following students earned "straight-A" or 4.0 averages in Fall Semester '77: Donald Kazee, Larry Perkins and Howard Widis. Moreover, when all fall '77 grades have been reported, there is reason to expect that the following will also be added to this 4.0 list for last semester: Daniel Bon, Paul Carpenter, Paul Marttila and Lisa Zahniser.

The students in our new class are now engaged in the search for good internship opportunities for summer '78. Immediate help from BOA members, alumni and friends would be highly welcome and most appreciated. Although a few attractive internships have already been confirmed, others are greatly needed. Results of the summer '78 internship activities will be reported in the next (fall '78) issue of this newsletter.

WORLDVIEW '78 Slated for Mid-March

WORLDVIEW, a two-day institute, has become one of the most important events on the Patterson School's annual calendar, co-sponsored and co-hosted by the Greater Lexington Rotary Club and approximately 35 other Rotary Clubs within an area of roughly 100 miles in radius around Lexington.

The primary day—this year March 17—is designed to attract senior high school honor students and adults from the general community and to enhance their knowledge on crucial issues pertaining to foreign affairs and international relations.

The theme for WORLDVIEW '78 is: "How to be Intelligent about Intelligence."

We are greatly pleased to welcome home a distinguished native son of the Blue Grass region of Kentucky, Scott B. Breckinridge, as the featured keynote speaker for WORLDVIEW '78.

He graduated from the University of Kentucky with a law degree, and then practiced law in the Lexington area in partnership with his brother John B. Breckinridge (currently U. S. Representative from the 6th Congressional District of Kentucky, and one of our BOA charter members) for a few years prior to World War II.

Following wartime service as an officer in the U. S. Navy,

Scott Breckinridge for most of the past 30 years has held a number of highly responsible positions in a career with the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency. In 1976 - 77, serving as the Agency's Deputy Inspector General, he was in most respects the Agency's key day-to-day liaison officer working with the U. S. Senate Select Committee on Intelligence in that Committee's efforts to draft new legislation guiding the American intelligence system. (A key member of that Committee was and is a good friend of the Patterson School, Senator Walter "Dee" Huddleston of Kentucky.)

In June 1977, Admiral Stansfield Turner, as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, conferred on Scott Breckinridge that organization's highest award and honor for distinguished career service.

WORLDVIEW '78 also includes a number of able and prominent younger civilian officials and military officers knowledgeable about issues pertaining to intelligence. One of these is a Patterson School alumnus, Roger J. LeMaster, an attorney currently serving as Legislative Counsel to Senator Huddleston. These younger VIP guests fill roles as panelists and seminar discussion leaders on the WORLDVIEW program.

A thanks to Mr. Volcker for his November visit

The Patterson School was extremely pleased to be visited for a guest lecture on Thursday, November 10, 1977, by the eminent Paul A. Volcker, President of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and during 1969 - 74 the Under Secretary of the Treasury, speaking on the topic "Challenges for International Economic Policy."

Instrumental in arranging his visit with us was our BOA charter member J. Dewey Daane, former Governor of the Federal Reserve and now Vice Chairman of the Board of Tennessee Valley Bancorp in Nashville. The rumor mill in Washington tabs Mr. Volcker as the odds-on choice to be the next President of the World Bank, succeeding Robert S. McNamara.

Paul A. Volcker, the lanky 6-foot 7-inch cigar-smoking President of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, is one of the most experienced players . . . on the pitted and muddy playing fields of international finance . . . heads what traditionally has been regarded as the most prestigious Federal Reserve Bank . . . that rarest of creatures, a central banker willing to speak his mind clearly on the issues of the day in public.
